Elk Point Oilmen's Association named a brand new champion at their 26th Annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament this weekend, Tyson Stafford edging out last year's champion, Norm Quinney III for the win. Troy Lorenson was third in the championship flight, sponsored by Weatherford Canada Partnership, while Murray Cochrane tied with Lindsay Jenner for fourth.

Despite poor cooperation from the weather, 13 flights of golfers enjoyed a full slate of activities, including a Saturday morning scramble and social events, including a pig roast and entertainment by two local bands on Friday evening and the steak barbecue, awards presentation, entertainment and draws for numerous prizes on Saturday evening.

The tournament also had new organizers this year, with Murray Cochrane welcoming the golfers and guests and announcing the winners, while Joe MacKinnon and Ryan Mudryk handed out the awards. Robyn Moroziuk, Werner Schmitt, Tyson Stafford, Dustin Yaremkevich, Jason Hayman and Justin Blyan were also involved in planning and hosting the event. Cochrane offered words of praise for the golf course crew, who "did a wonderful job all weekend," and called for a round of applause for the courtesy van drivers.

Flight winners

Winners of the First Flight, sponsored by Rockwell Servicing Partnership, were: 1. Curtis Porcina, 2. Greg Desaulniers, 3. Aaron Grosseth, 4. Corey Dennett.

Second Flight (Tarsands Steam Cleaning Ltd.): 1. Scott Whitten, 2. Joe MacKinnon, 3. Wayne Smith.

Third Flight (R & M Energy Systems Canada): 1. Joe Breland, 2. Dan Povaschuk, 3. Greg Fontaine.

Council to restrict sea cans to industrial area

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

Elk Point town council agreed last week that sea can storage units can only be located on property zoned for industrial use. Town manager Myron Goyan obtained information from a number of other communities regarding their regulations about the use of the containers and reported that while some do not permit their use at all, while others have not formulated regulations because no one has asked for permission to locate them in their communities. Goyan was asked to prepare an amendment to the land use bylaw that would permit use on industrial property only.

The town had earlier had a request for permission to use a sea can as storage on an institutional property, but council agreed that this would not be an appropriate addition to the community.

Gas franchise renewed

The Alta Gas franchise is up for renewal, at the existing rate of seven per cent.

Council passed a motion to sign the renewal agreement.

Oil issue

A motorist came to council to ask for compensation after road oil in a resurfacing area splashed up from his tires to the side of his truck. Council later agreed to deny the request.

Fundraising questioned

Council reviewed the information forwarded by the St. Paul Regional Lions Quarterback Club regarding their new facility, and noted that while they had sent a timeline and budget, there was no mention of any fundraising efforts on the club's behalf, despite a sizeable shortfall. They will be asked to clarify that matter.

Council comments

Economic development officer Bob Bezpalko had a very short report for council this time. He has plans for a newsletter and a calendar in the near future. He asked for council's comments on the attributes of a successful community, as part of a survey he is conducting.

Signage concerns

New portable signs have been located south of the Peter Fidler statue, with no request made to the town for permission.

Council agreed earlier this year not to allow additional signs to be placed in that area until the signage bylaw was reviewed and clarified.

Goyan will contact the sign's owner in this regard.

Truck purchase

Negotiations to purchase the additional truck for the public works department, at the price the town was willing to pay, have been successful. Council passed a motion to pay for it out of general capital funding.

County sets plebiscite date

By SHAUNA BURKE

Review Contributor

County of St. Paul council has decided on October 26, with October 17 for advance polls, as the dates for county residence to head to the polls and vote on a plebiscite either in for or against bylaw 1530, the Reeve at Large issue.

Amil Shapka, a member of A Better County Democracy was pleased to hear that a date has been set for the plebiscite.

"This will give us a louder voice in our local government and with that more accountability," said Shapka. "This is a win, win for everyone."

If residence vote in favour of bylaw 1530, they will be voting in favour of having an elected reeve and in favour of changing the electoral boundaries so that there will be six divisions and not seven, explained CEO of the County of St. Paul Sheila Kitz.

Right now the county is divided into seven wards (known as divisions).

Suspects identified in Frog Lake armed robbery

By Cst. JOHN SPAANS
Elk Point RCMP

During the afternoon of Aug. 11, two male suspects attended a house on the Frog Lake First Nations. One of the males asked the owner of the house for the keys to his vehicle while the second male stood by with a firearm. The victim feared for his safety and gave the two males the keys for his truck. A short time after the occurrence, Cst. Spaans came across the vehicle on Highway 897 and a short pursuit was initiated. Due to public safety concerns, the pursuit was terminated.

RCMP members were called in, including the police dog, members from the Onion Lake Detachment and one member of the Edson Detachment who was in the area on unrelated matters. The stolen vehicle was located on an oil lease and was secured for forensic analysis.

Suspects have been identified in this matter and warrants are being sought. Investigation is ongoing.

Domestic violence

On Aug. 6 at approximately 3 a.m., Elk Point RCMP attended a complaint of domestic violence in Fishing Lake. Investigation into the matter revealed that over the course of 24 hours, the 24-year-old male suspect choked, punched and threatened to kill his girlfriend multiple times. At one point during the ordeal, the suspect wielded a kitchen knife and made stabbing motions toward the victim. The episode came to an end when a family member located the victim and forced the suspect from the residence. The suspect was located later in the evening and now faces a total of 14 Criminal Code charges, including choking to overcome resistance and assault with a weapon. The victim suffered non-life-threatening injuries during the occurrence.

On Aug. 11, Elk Point RCMP were alerted to an assault that took place the previous evening in Frog Lake. The female suspect called 911 to report that she had assaulted her common-law husband and would like to turn herself in to police. RCMP investigated the matter and confirmed that the female had indeed injured her husband. During an argument, the female pushed her husband to the ground and began striking him with crutches. The suspect now faces charges of assault with a weapon and assault causing bodily harm for the non-life-threatening injuries suffered by the victim.

Collision

On Aug. 8, Elk Point RCMP responded to a single vehicle collision on 48 Street in Elk Point. The vehicle was parked at a nearby business but it is believed the driver neglected to engage the parking brake. With the vehicle in neutral, it began going in reverse until it drove through a neighbour's fence, causing considerable damage. Investigation into this matter is ongoing.

Crime Stoppers

Sometime between July 24 and 26, a garage on property near Frog Lake First Nations was broken into by unknown suspect(s). An eight-gallon blue and black Campbell Hausfeld air compressor was taken from the garage.

Anyone with information is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or the Elk Point RCMP Detachment at (780) 724-3964.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for this or any other crime. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest, you qualify for an award.

Summer reading program winds up

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

It's the final week for the Elk Point Municipal Library's Summer Reading Program. The program will be holding a wind-up gathering this Wednesday afternoon after a summer of fun-filled sessions involving stories, crafts and other activities.

The highlight of this year's program may well have been the visit from famed detective, Dr. Iwannano, who enlisted the youngsters' help to solve The Case of the Missing Mom.

The Summer Reading Program is designed to entertain while educating, and to keep children reading during their summer break from school.

County plebiscite date set

Each division elects one councillor. Then council appoints one of the seven to be a reeve. Currently Robert Bouchard, elected in Division 5, is the reeve.

"If there is a poor voter turn out then special interest groups may sway the vote," said Bouchard, voicing concern about the plebiscite.

Under the proposed bylaw, there would only be six wards and each ward would elect one representative. However, everyone in the county would also vote for a reeve. With six councillors and one reeve, the number of elected officials would remain at seven.

The bylaw passed first reading on May 12. If the public supports the bylaw on Oct 26, then it will come back to council for second and third reading. The changes would then take effect in the general election to be held in 2010. However, if the bylaw is not supported, council will rescind the first reading.

The issue began last fall when a A Better County Democracy began collecting names on a petition in support of having a reeve elected directly by county residents, rather than the current system where councillors choose one of their members to be reeve.

The first petition was deemed insufficient because of inaccurate legal land descriptions, however a second petition was circulated and deemed sufficient on April 14.

"A lot of good people worked hard for this," said Shapka. "There is wide spread support for this throughout the county."

Now the public will have an opportunity to vote directly on the issue.

Municipal addressing to be explained at county meeting

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

County of St. Paul residents will have an opportunity later this week to find out more about the Municipal Addressing Program that is now underway. An information meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 20 at 7 p.m. at the lower level of the county office in St. Paul.

The program is modeled on the addressing system found in most cities and will give each property a municipal address related to the range or township road or named road from which the property's driveway is built. Each mile of township or range road is divided into 16 spaces on each side of the road, with even numbers for north and west sides of the roads and odd numbers on the south and east sides, with the numbers increasing going west and north. For example, a property a quarter mile west of Range Road

75 that is on the north side of Township Road 650, that address might be "7508 Twp Rd 650," while the property across the road

This sign along Sec. Hwy. 646 east of Elk Point indicates that the property is west of Range Road 54, and the following odd numbers indicate that it is on the south side of the highway.

might be number 7507. Properties in multi-parcel subdivisions will also have a number relating to their location in the subdivision, while the main sign will be at the entrance from the main road.

"It's a province-wide initiative," Division I Coun. Glen Ockerman notes. "These signs are already in place in quite a few of our neighbouring municipalities."

The primary purpose of the green-and-white signs will be to make it easier for first responders such as RCMP, fire and ambulance services to locate the site of an emergency, Ockerman says.

"The signs will also be handy when long-lost relatives come to visit, so they will know when they get to your house."

"They (emergency services) all have GPS on board, and that will take them right to the location. It will enhance their services and get them where they need to be more quickly. Their time is valuable, and I think it's a good change."

Natural progression

The new committee organizing this year's Oilmen's Golf tournament confessed to being "a new bunch trying to do this."

No doubt it was for them a steep learning curve, as it always is when a new committee takes over from people who have been doing anything, from cooking pancakes to running a major fundraiser. Still, it's the way it must be. No volunteer should be committed to serving on a board or committee forever. New members bring new ideas and new ways of doing things, and in the long run, make improvements to almost every organization's activities.

For a first attempt, the new committee did a great job and should be commended for their efforts.

It was also good to see a new generation of golfers getting involved. It is very important that this happen, as many of the golfers who took part in the earliest Oilmen's tournaments are no longer involved in the industry, or have left the area.

New involvement, in organizers and participants, is essential for any event, to keep interest alive and growing.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Fire, finds and fair winners

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF AUGUST 18 IN...

1984

Fire partially destroyed the Elk Point Curling Rink after a kitchen appliance malfunctioned, sending flames up the south end of the building. Whitney Lake Provincial Park was officially opened by the Honorable Peter Trynchy, Minister of Recreation and Parks, at a ceremony in the group picnic area at Ross Lake.

1989

A summer of digging, sifting and searching deep into the past for artifacts at Fort George historic site was over for five members of the Archaeological Survey of Alberta and six local workers who painstakingly unearthed charred wood, arrowheads, bones, trade jewelry, a large and rusty key, and no less than 18,921 trade beads at the site high above the North Saskatchewan. Rose Doucet was named the Grand Aggregate winner of the Elk Point Fair.

1994

Christina Brown edged out six-time winner Norma Berg to win the Elk Point Fair Grand Aggregate award. Elk Point Recreation Park got no respect, as vandals did their best to set fire to the gazebo as well as tearing out support beams and damaging the shingles on the structure.

1999

Elk Point Agricultural Society's bench fair had a brand new aggregate winner, Rose Kozicky, with Lyn Young placing second and Gisele Pederson placing third overall. The new downtown sidewalks looked so good that town council agreed to extend the Main Street upgrade north to 51 Ave.

2004

An increase in the number of quilts and quilted items helped to offset the decrease in bench fair entries at Elk Point Fair, where Christina Brown was back in the Grand Aggregate spotlight after a five-year absence. Elk Point Town Council agreed to crack down on dogs roaming at large and youngsters wandering the streets in the late evening, with beefed-up animal control and curfew bylaws getting all three readings.

Lessons learned

With today being August 18, it means that this week and next week are the last days before it is back to school for all our students. Actually, in reality, the students are only changing the classroom walls from home to the school. They have been in learning from their parents during the summer recess and now this same learning will still continue except the hours will now be before and after school. So there you go, parents. You are teachers and you will always be teachers to your children.

Richard Henry Dann is quoted as saying, "You can't teach people everything they need to know. The best you can do is position them where they can find what they need to know." Therefore, by you teaching them at home, and making it possible for them to attend school away from home, you are helping them to find more about what they need to know.

For example, M. Russell Ballard tells a story of what he learnt from his father. "Years ago when I was in business, I learned a very expensive lesson because I did not listen carefully to the counsel of my father. My father and I were in the automobile business, and the Ford Motor Company was looking for dealers to sell their new line of cars. Ford executives invited my father and me to a preview showing of what they thought would be a spectacularly successful product. When we saw the cars, my father, who had over 35 years experience in the business, cautioned me about becoming a dealer. However, the Ford sales personnel were very persuasive, and I chose to become Salt Lake City's first – and actually last – Edsel dealer. And if you don't know what an Edsel is, ask your grandpa. He will tell you that the Edsel was a spectacular failure."

deanna

EASTHOPE

from the FCSS desk

Besides being a powerful lesson to learn, M. Russell Ballard chose to make his own decision and not follow the counsel of his father. One could state: "But, on the other hand, it could have worked out to have been a good decision." Yes, that is possible, but in this case it didn't.

Another possible point from this lesson is to remember that as a teacher, whether that is a parent or schoolteacher, no matter whom we are, we need to also keep learning. Richard Henry Dann is quoted as saying: "Those who dare to teach must never cease to learn." What Richard is saying is that any teacher has to keep learning. In parenting, we are always learning - or we are in trouble. In school teaching, teachers cannot use the same method over and over again without tweaking it to fit students or material to be taught, or they will be in trouble.

Speaking of continual learning, there are some slogans to remember for all who teach. Calvin Coolidge is quoted as saying: "Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent. The slogan, 'Press on' has solved and always will solve the problems of the human race." What we can learn from this quote is, basically, 'don't give up.'

Robert Maynard Hutchins is quoted as saying: "The object of education is to prepare the young to educate themselves throughout their lives." If this happens, and if we have an attitude to 'press on' with persistence and determination, we will all be happier in our achievements whether we are parents, schoolteachers or importantly, anyone.

Keep on learning everyone!

Seniors visit Devonian Botanical Gardens

SUBMITTED

On July 23 it was a beautiful sunny morning as local seniors boarded the Seniors Traveling Roadshow and headed to the University of Alberta's Devonian Botanic Gardens in Devon. Participants enjoyed their lunch in the shade of the tall trees at the Buttercup Bistro and then boarded golf carts for a tour of the Devonian gardens, which were established in 1959.

The guides pointed out different herbs, shrubs, trees and flowers on a stunning 190-acre property, which is perfectly manicured. A sensory and healing garden, herb, desert gardens and perennials, such as the peony collection, are all featured. A Native Peoples garden covers an area of two acres and is almost completely surrounded by water. This area was opened in 1982 by a well-known former Saddle Lake resident, the Honourable Ralph Steinhauer. It now comprises of a retreat where trees, shrubs and many herbaceous plants used by native people are displayed. There is also a wedding lawn, many different varieties of raspberries and rhubarb, rose gardens and a test gardens as well as many other ornamental plant displays.

Being a Botanic Garden the gardens are not watered by irrigation, but rely on natural watersheds. The many gardeners that tend to the garden place the plants strategically to get the best sun or shade. There were also greenhouses displaying a cacti garden, arid plant gardens as well as a tropical paradise where several beautiful varieties of butterflies fly freely. The larvae could also be viewed, where butterflies just hatching could be seen trying to stretch their wings for the first time. We then strolled to the Kurimoto Japanese Gardens a truly tranquil setting complete with a waterfall, stone lantern garden, bell tower as well as a shady gazebo in which many stopped to rest and enjoy the amazing setting.

The County of St. Paul FCSS along with the Community Learning Association has provided an excellent educational opportunity for seniors as well as proving a positive social environment for all participants.

St. Paul and area seniors enjoyed a tour of the Devonian Botanical Gardens as part of the County of St. Paul FCSS Travelling Roadshow.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of Barrie McFADYEN
May 3, 1945 - Aug. 22, 2007

Life goes on without you, but nothing is the same,
I try to hide the heartache,
when someone speaks your name.

Sad are the hearts that love
you, silent the tears that fall.
Living life without you is the hardest part of all.

A million times I've needed
you, a million tears I've cried.
If love could have saved you,
you never would have died.

You did so many things for us,
your heart always kind and true.
And when we needed someone most, we could always count on you.

The special years will not return, when we were all together.
But with the love that's in our hearts, you'll walk with us forever.

Lovingly remembered,
Chris & Family

It would mean so much to us to see
The door come open and see you walk in.

To hear your kind and caring voice

And see your smiling face again.
Would be the greatest gift we could ever wish for.

It has been two long, sad and difficult years since
That dreadful night you were called so suddenly away.

Our lives go on without you but nothing is the same.

We try to hide our tears and remember all

The things you did for us and the support you gave us,
The family times we all shared,
enjoyed, and valued.

Your gentle, caring, loyal and bumble ways will always mean so much.

The hands of time will not turn back

To when we were all together as a family,

But in the memories we cherish and in our hearts

You will be loved and with us forever,
Barrie.

Lovingly remembered and so sadly missed by your loving Mom, brother Malcolm, Marge &
Family, and sister Myrna & Bill.

Municipal addressing

Installation of the signs in Division 1 is "pretty much complete," Ockerman says, and work is underway in Division 2. "The signs are ordered and line location is being done."

The sign installation is "a huge undertaking," according to county CEO Sheila Kitz. "One group puts in the stakes at the residences, a second group puts in the posts and signs. The signs are coming in bunches, and our lake subdivisions are now complete."

The project "won't be complete until all of our signs are up," Kitz says. "Then the data will be sent to Telus and will become part of the 9-1-1 system." That step is hoped to take place later this year.

Work on the project has been ongoing for at least a year and a half, Kitz says, noting that the groundwork of determining each address took considerable time.

The addresses will be part of the county's expanded Geographic Information System (GIS), which Kitz says is "an incredible tool for a municipality to have." The County of Two Hills has had their GIS in place for some years and during her previous employment with that municipality, Kitz says that she found, "With a click of a button you can retrieve all kinds of data. I'm really excited about having that capability here."

"We have three cameras recording all the roads, with their signs, culverts and the condition of the roads," Ockerman says. "We can use this to keep track of the condition of roads, which depreciate over time, and use it as a tool for long range planning. We will be able to look at the roads on our laptops during a meeting if someone comes to council and says there is a problem at a certain location."

Ockerman adds that, "in two or three years, the public will also be able to tie into the system and check out the roads they need to use to go somewhere."

Most importantly, Ockerman says, this "new world of technology gives us more information with which to make decisions."

The Swamp Donkeys defeated the Rockets by a decisive 19-6 margin to take the 'A' side championship of the 2009 Stoney Lake Hall's Mixed Slo-Pitch Tournament. Ron Wirsta (left) presented the Richland Oilfield Services shirts to the winners. Eight participating teams ignored unseasonably chilly weather on Saturday and basked in the sun on Sunday as they enjoyed the annual event.

The Bench Warmers celebrated their 'B' side victory over G Unit at the Stoney Lake Mixed Slo-Pitch Tournament on Sunday. Other teams taking part included the Circus, the MaKooks, the M & Ms and the CRJ Brewers. Jordan Krankowsky won Saturday's Home Run Derby.
